

CONSUMPTION.

In its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. During the early period of this disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by its use.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation cures all the ailments of the chest, whether they be coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, or any other pulmonary complaint. It is a safe and reliable remedy, and gives up by its use."

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctor said I was in consumption, and that I could die at any moment. I used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and have remained well to the present day."—James B. Church, Madison, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted an severe cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it, and in a few days I was restored to health. I have since recommended this preparation to all who have been afflicted with colds, coughs, or any other pulmonary complaint."—J. B. Church, Madison, Conn.

BRECKENRIDGE NEWS

GUSTON.

The wheat crop will go into winter in good condition, although early snow has come in it.

Corn gathering was going on at a rapid rate last week, with a great deal of the crop yet in the field.

Mr. Taylor has sold a hoghead of barley last tobacco in Louisville on the 14th inst. for $17.75 per hundred.

The protracted meeting which was to come off at Salem last week was postponed and will probably some time in January.

News. Arthur & Clint Bryant have rented Mr. Joseph Thompson's two-story store room and will have their goods on by the holidays, if not sooner.

A little notice now and then is related by the best of men. We older folks should not forget to talk and think about what occurred 1860 years ago, and why it occurred.

A great deal of building has been done in our community this week. We never feel so many new corn cobs.

Among those who have built new residences are John Livers and S. A. Henry.

As it has been some time since we saw tidings of any kind from here announced in the columns of your valuable paper, we want to say a little word to you.

First we will say that the people of this community have great reasons to be thankful to the great giver of all good things for our year of peace and plenty, for we have plenty and to spare.

Notwithstanding sickness and death, as well as the old from summer, we are, and should be, thankful for what we have and are, for doubtless these things are intended to remind us ahead of the important injunction, "Be ye sober, and be ye vigilant."

Breckenridge farmers used to beat the farmers over here in Meade away out of raising tobacco. In those days we have a few fellows over here now that understand handling the great weed.

(And we'll bet a good deal of tobacco that they move over from this county, too.)

We have it, and that pretty tall, tall, that old Santa Claus is way up West gathering presents for the children down here, and that he will be here on the afternoon down train on the 21st. Well do we remember how merry the word Christmas sounded to us when we were a boy.

Oh Santa, while making the list of the little ones, don't forget our old folks, for you know that get mighty childish at times. I feel as if I'm going to be powerful soon about that time.

Will you please humor me this much, if no other. If you have any loose papers about your pocket, will you please to slip about seventeen bits, far out, that will make lots of use into our little sack.

Well, Mr. Editor, you know that there are some folks that know just across more old politics than others, and then you know there are some who know good sized lots less. We are of the latter class, hence we want a little information or explanation, whichever it may be turned.

About a year ago we were told by a good old Republican friend of one thing that would not have to wait longer than a little after Christmas, until we should see an increased activity in every branch of business.

As he said, we will have four years more of good, honest government. Our farm products will command better prices, I will get my pension, and the good Lord only knows how many good things that he said our father Harlan was going to do for us.

Well, now, the present prices for logs are making more money to the farmer than five cents a pound did a year ago; also 70 or 75 cents per bushel of wheat, when you may mean more than a dollar did last year at this time. Now understood, we are not going to say that Mr. Harlan and his cabinet have just said what we had just to persist in saying, and here in Kentucky for voting against him, but we want our friend to explain this more satisfactorily to us or we shall be for Cleveland or some other good Democrat in 1890.
